

ABOUT

Eurovision, covered from America.

The American Delegation is an independent Eurovision podcast and media brand made in America. Hosts Stafford Jones and John Carrion cover the contest for American fans, from the national selections to the Grand Final, and publish guides to watching and voting from America.

America doesn't compete in Eurovision. The show covers it the way an American delegation would if there were one, tracking the American connections in each year's field and writing for fans who watch from here.

EUROVISION 2027

On the ground in Burgas.

Both hosts will be in Burgas, Bulgaria, for the semi-finals on May 11 and 13 and the Grand Final on May 15. Coverage plan:

- Episodes and Instagram coverage from rehearsals through the Grand Final
- The Americans and American songwriters in the 2027 field
- Canada's first Eurovision, seen from next door
- Watching and voting from America, updated for 2027

WORK WITH US

Ask us about Eurovision.

We're available for comment and background on Eurovision for stories aimed at American audiences, for guest spots on podcasts and radio, and for interviews in Burgas during show week. We also love trading guest appearances with other Eurovision shows.

PUBLISHER

AD Media, LLC

BASED IN America

LAUNCH

Late 2026

WEB

americandelegation.com

SOCIAL

@americandelegation

HOSTS

Stafford Jones

Got into Eurovision in 2022 and was at the Euroclub in Liverpool a year later. A brand marketer by day (Disney, Publicis Groupe), he's usually asking what a song cost to stage, and whether his best friend's mom would vote for it.

John Carrion

Host

SHOW ART

AMERICAN DELEGATION

A Eurovision podcast from America

PRESS AND INTERVIEWS

mail@americandelegation.com

Logos, cover art and photos: americandelegation.com/press

The American Delegation is independent and unofficial. It is not affiliated with the EBU, the Eurovision Song Contest or any broadcaster.